

Stockton Wood Primary School...

Dear Parents,

We are delighted to be taking part in the 'Booktime Project'.

We hope you enjoyed sharing your special book, 'Open very carefully - A Book with a Bite' with your child.

The 'Booktime' programme is a fantastic way to support reading at the home and in school - sharing books with children is so important.

We know that books help open children's eyes, minds and hearts to different people and situations, and research also proves that children who love reading do better at school in all subjects. Best of all, reading together helps to build a strong and loving relationship with your child.

We are planning a special fun day in January based around your special book, 'Open Very Carefully - A Book With Bite' so please keep your book very safe as we will ask the children to bring their book to school on that day. We will also be inviting parents to join us on that day too - so watch out for more information coming soon!

There are other lovely books on the website <http://www.booktime.org.uk/> that you can read and enjoy with your child and throughout the year the children will be taking part in activities linked to those books too - we will let you know about these activities later in the year!
